PGLR “Great” Tourism Video Contest Winner Announced

Erie, PA: The winner of the Pennsylvania’s Great Lakes Region (PGLR) “Great Tourism Video Contest” has been announced. Gannon University student, Andrew Wagner, snagged the top prize of $1,000 for his creative video of fun things to do in Erie County. From August 1 to October 31, 2011, PGLR invited the public to shoot and edit a 2-3 minute video of their PGLR adventures and then share it on the PGLR web site www.PaGreatLakes.com where viewers could vote for their favorite. The month-long online voting process took place throughout November with the winning video selected December 5th. A total of 14 videos were submitted. Andrew’s video received 40% of the online vote. The second place $500 prize went to Brian Edwards, of Erie. All of the videos, including the two winners, can be viewed at www.PaGreatlakes.com/contest/.

The Pennsylvania’s Great Lakes Region is comprised of Crawford, Erie, Mercer and Venango counties working together to market the region. Visit us at www.pagreatlakes.com.
